Notes and sources:

[A]–[D] Epic, "Presentation to the Board of Directors," 8/13/2019 (EPIC_VALVE_0000364–389, at EPIC_VALVE_0000369).

[D] For 2019, I multiply the total market size by Gamersgate's percentage share of 1.7%.

I understand these revenues to represent third-party PC sales only. For example, this presentation suggests that Epic's expected 2019 sales were $211 million. Using Epic's publicly-released year-in-review, Epic's actual third-party sales were in the amount of $251 million, whereas total spend in the Epic Games Store including first-party sales was $680 million. Thus, I understand this data to represent third-party sales only. See:

Epic Games Store, "Epic Games Store Weekly Free Games in 2020!" 1/14/2020, <https://store.epicgames.com/en-US/news/epic-games-store-weekly-free-games-in-2020>.

[A] = Sum of Attachment X-4 at relevant year if Super Division = EDG Managed - Gaming 3P Content, Product Division = 3P Gaming Transactions or 3rd Party Games, and Business Unit = Windows Gaming.

[B] = Sum of Attachment X-5 at relevant year if Super Division = EDG Managed - Gaming 3P Content, Product Division = 3P Gaming Transactions or 3rd Party Games, and Business Unit = Windows Gaming.

[C] = [A] + [B].

Note that this includes Windows 3PP Season Pass, which likely resembles a subscription service, and should not be included in the relevant market, and thus this figure overstates actual third-party sales.

See Attachment X-4 at Product Unit.

I note that Microsoft's fiscal year (July 1 to June 30) differs from calendar year revenues. For sake of simplicity, I assume Microsoft's sales map directly to a calendar year.

See Microsoft, Form 10-K, 2022, at 1.

		Total

Notes and sources:

Records are limited to transactions for non-Valve publishers that took place on or after January 28, 2017. Hardware sales and records with unknown app types are removed.

[A] Global (Foreign Exclusion) removes publishers who are not based in the US and have no US sales during the damages period.

[B] In-App denotes transactions from Valve's In-App data, and Package denotes transactions from Valve's Package data. See: Valve Transaction Data.

[C] Records in Valve Transaction Data end on December 31, 2022. 2023 values are assumed to be equal to 2022. Total reflects a sum through 12/31/23 including this assumption.

[D] See: Valve Transaction Data.

[E] Overcharge reflects transaction revenues multiplied by the overcharge rate determined for each commission rate.

Overcharge rate = Calculated Commission Rate - ((But-For Commission Rate × Calculated Commission Rate) / Effective Commission Rate).

The remaining revenue is associated with outlier commission rates calculations, due to timing of partner payments or small transaction size.

When calculating overcharges, I floor rates below 20% at 20% and cap rates above 30% at 30%.

For calculated commission rates where an AppID had net negative revenues, that rate is dropped from the overcharge calculation.
